Stanford Journal: Miss Bessie Yantis spent several days with Garrard county relatives. Mrs Mildred Beazley, of Lancaster is with Mrs W W Hays. Mr G M Aldridge, of Garrard, spent Sunday with his brothers, Messrs S H and H D Aldridge.

Frankfort Journal: Mr Grove C Kennedy arrived yesterday to see his three sons, now serving terms in the penitentiary. He has been a man in his day, but the trouble that has come upon him is bending his form and making his step unsteady and no one can see him and not sympathize.

One of the most enjoyable social events of the season was the reception given, on Friday evening, by Mr and Mrs J G Burnside, in honor of their daughter, Miss Annie Belle, and her guests, Miss Elora Arnold and Mr Dozier Arnold, of Boston, Ky. The house was beautifully decorated with nasturtiums and asparagus ferns and the lawn was brightly illuminated with Japanese lanterns. Miss Elizabeth Gibbs presided gracefully at the punch bowl. Miss Burnside proved a very charming hostess.

The Literary Club was charmingly entertained by Mrs W R Cook Friday afternoon at her beautiful home. All helped on her subject, "books," as she had a guessing contest of books which was interesting and very exciting.

Messdames J B Kinnaird, J C Hemphill and F P Frisbie had correct answers and had to draw for the prize, Mrs Hemphill being the fortunate one receiving a copy of "The Weavers" for the prize. Delightful refreshments were served after which Mrs Hemphill gave her subject, "Kentucky" for the next meeting at the Christian Sunday School room at 4 o'clock.

The guests of the club were Miss Louise Kauffman, of St Louis and Mrs J M Staughton, of Middletown, Ohio.

Mr Victor Rice, wife and daughter, Stella, are visiting the family of Mr T I Herring, this week. Mr Rice, who is very fond of the sport of fishing, will spend most of his time while here on the banks of Dix river. He is a splendid fisherman and never fails to bring a long string of fish back with him.

Children's Day was observed on last Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. All through the afternoon was quite warm the little folks held the attention through the entire program of the large crowd who had assembled to enjoy the occasion. Be it said, to the credit of Miss Addie Arnold, who had charge of the recitations and Mrs Jeff Dunn the music, that they did so well. At close, a collection was taken by the children, amounting to $13.50, which will be donated to mission work.
